SETTING A ROOSTER.

A citizen of Rumford had canvassed the town in vain from end to end in search of a "hen to set," says the Provi- BUILDERS: dence Journal, when he heard that an old darkey on the Boston, Providence A Newport road had a great deal of "sethen coop in the rear of his residence.

Approaching, he askel, by way of proaching the subject, how many heus ie had "setting." "Three hens and a rooster, boss." "And a which?" inquired the pontry

"A roosler," replied the darkey. seeing the look of distrust on his visitor's face he took him into a low building, and sure enough there sat a Brahma rooster calmly covering twenty eggs. Ou one side of him sat two hens and on the other a third hen. The visitor, seeing how stately the rooster sat, secretly resolved to get some of the darkey's eggs and hatch out a special lot of roosters. key replied that "dat ar rooster done bound to set," pointing underneath the

DON'T READ THIS.

If in your wisdom you see cause to reject advice, per se, If money making your motive be, read what fullows-it is the key.

If you trade with some people they talk sweet as honey;

But A. Feld is not so-he gives bargains for money. Come and see the bargains I have by the score;

Don't miss the place-the Cincinnati Cheap Store, I am telling the honest truth from my heart very deep-At the C neinnati Cheap Store you'll buy goods very cheap.

We'd close quarters for money in eighteen ninety-four; If you will trade with A. Fold you'll have hard times no more, These are neither jokes nor takes-

I am selling goods inst like hot cakes. Do not ask me the reason why, But simply come yourself and try.

The foregoing is true in effect, And the truth every one should respect.

And ladies' fine stroes at the very low price of one dollar. I have bargains to offer in jeans pants for gents,

For St3 cents I sell a four ply linen collar,

Worth a dollar and a halt, for ninety five cents. A fine hat fifty cents, worth a doll r-fifty or more; The place to get bargains is the Cincinnati Cheap Store.

You will see men advertise these days a heap, But still this fact don't make them sell goods very cheap. Now it will be your own fault in this case,

If for bargains, you don't come to this place. Please take my word for what I have said, And regret not opportunities fled.

Remember that to do vourself good when you cae, You must always trade with the cheap bargain man. If you want genuine bargains go to the right door;

This is the place, A. Feld, or Cincinnati Cheap Store. Ladies, after having read all the CLIMAX news, Come to Cincinnati Cheap Store for $ shoes.

And for only fifty cents you have choice of something fine. I will have more to say at some other time; But a quarter spent with A. Feld, saves a dime.
